

GAM EXCLUSION POLICY

September 2021

1. Introduction

This Policy sets out how GAM Investments applies restrictions with regards to exposure to controversial weapons and is designed to reflect applicable laws and regulations. We consider controversial weapons to be those that have been subject to widespread ban or restriction by key international treaties or conventions such as the Convention on Cluster Munitions and Anti-Personnel Mines, Biological and Chemical Weapons, which prohibit the use, production, stockpiling and transfer of these weapons.

2. Key Principle

GAM Investments will not knowingly hold any security that is involved in the manufacturing of anti-personnel mines, cluster munitions, biological and chemical weapons, incendiary (white phosphorous), laser-blinding and non-detectable fragments. This definition will include securities assessed as involved in directly manufacturing weapons, producing customs parts, dual-use of components and smart weapons. (See Appendix for further details)

Consequently, the following securities are excluded from direct investment globally by GAM Investments:

We also apply these exclusions to our actively managed private label funds for which GAM acts as Management Company. In cases where a private label client requests the application of their own exclusion list for controversial weapons, we will apply such list providing it is publicly available or made available to us by the client and regularly updated.

4. Governance and Implementation

The list of companies / excluded issuers is compiled using an independent third-party research partner and is reviewed on a quarterly basis. This list is obtained and implemented on a best efforts basis. Where there are any additional issuers identified, we will seek to divest any holdings within 90 business days.

This exclusion policy will be reviewed on an annual basis.

5. Transparency

GAM is transparent with regards to the excluded companies. The exclusion policy and latest available list of excluded companies will both be available on GAM's website.
